CULTIVATED BLUEBERRY PLANTS

All Blueberries have a white bell-shaped blossom opening about the fifth to the twentieth of May.

CABOT

Much the same type of bush as Harding. An early variety of good quality. Light blue berry. Yellow bush in winter.

JUNE

The early Blueberry. An upright bush, not as vigorous as Rubel. A very large berry of fine flavor, light blue color. Bush red in winter. Does not produce enough fruit for commercial planting.

HARDING

Begins to ripen with Rubel but continues to have fruit somewhat later. Probably the best flavored of all varieties. A dark blue berry of medium size. The bush is low and spreading and is yellow in winter. The perfect bush for garden or landscaping.

RUBEL

The most widely grown Blueberry commercially. A vigorous, upright, hardy bush. The Rubel produces more fruit than any other variety. The berries are of good size, light blue and a good flavor if allowed to ripen thoroughly. A midseason to late variety. Bush is bright red in winter.

RANCOCAS

Ripens ten days to two weeks ahead of Rubel. Also a thrifty, upright bush. The berry is gray-blue, of excellent flavor and larger than Rubel. Bush dark red in winter.
